What began as a Christmas gift for his wife may become a career for Ed Harris (above), of Romulus. Harris is developing a talent for creating miniature fantasy-like villages. The first village was a gift for his wife and since then he has built several other towns which include small buildings, characters, dinosaurs, and rivers. For each village, Harris composes a poem. ## Fantasy village

Local artist creates magical, miniature worlds

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Ed Harris has created a magical world for his family filled with dragons, gnomes and poetry.

More than a year ago, the Romulus man became an artist to create a special Christmas present for his wife, Cindy. She was locked out of an upstairs room for a month as Harris transformed a closet into a village for gnomes.

When Cindy was finally able to peek at her gift, she discovered a seemingly endless landscape of tiny homes, shops, hills and trees all enhanced with a running river and pond.

"I was stunned," she recalled.

"I know I have the only river in a closet in Romulus," Harris laughed.

The village is a collection of hand-painted model houses and trees with hills made of tiny stones. Special lighting and mirrors create the illusion that the town goes on forever.

On the closet door, Harris penned a poem explaining the reason for his village - to offer a carefree, innocent place for his family to enjoy.

Encouraged by the success of his first project, Harris decided to continue honing his artistic skills. After constructing a cabinet in his garage, he created a second village. This one has a working waterfall and is set in a starlit night.

"It's serene," Harris said, content with his creation.

Again, the village is accompanied by a poem.

Harris has created two other villages to date, the newest one being completed last week. The elaborate Village of Dann is a home to good dragons that covers a four-by-eight-foot platform. Dann contains a castle fortress surrounded by a moat, a magical gnome holding a glowing emerald and a red, glowing caldron.

Harris wrote a five-page story about Dann in verse before building the replica.

His final creation, Paradise, contains a model of Harris' home. The display will be kept near a pool in a special, waterproof case. A poem describing Paradise is penned on a bamboo shade which will cover the model.

Already, Harris has begun work on another tale, the Kingdom of Kristonia. In addition, he has scheduled an interview with the curator of the Childdren's Museum of Art in Detroit. He hopes to create a special work for the museum using dinosaurs.

The images of artist and poet are new to Harris. He does not have formal training in either area. In recent years, he has worked as a landscaper with his wife.

His two sons, 7 and 10 years old, are enchanted with their father's work and often ask to help. Harris, however, usually prefers to work alone.

"I make it up as I go along," he explained.

Harris admits his work appears to have child-like themes, but he believes the "worlds" he creates can appeal to everyone.

"I create places people would like to live free from worry."

Candidates set for city election

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Three candidates will compete for the title of mayor in Romulus and many others will pursue political ambitions.

Tuesday afternoon marked the deadline for potential candidates to file election petitions with the city clerk.

The election ballot will include candidates for mayor, clerk, treasurer and city council.

Joining the campaign for the mayor's post will be incumbent Beverly McAnally, along with challengers Zenobia Jones and Earl Champagne.

Romulus ordinance requires a primary election if the amount of candidates for a position double the amount of openings. Thus, a mayoral primary will be staged Sept. 15. Below is a brief look at the candidates.

McAnally has served as mayor since 1983.

"I'm not through," she said. "I have many important projects that I have not finished and I feel a strong obligation to see them through."

A long-time resident of Romulus, Jones has worked as a teacher and as a principal in western Wayne County. She was also a tutorial assistant at Madonna College.

"I just felt that I would like the opportunity to take this office and make some changes, some improvements...I feel I can do the job," she said.

Champagne has lived in Romulus approximately 34 years. He is self-employed.

"I think it's time to get some new blood in there," he said.

Campaigning for the seven posts available on the city council are:

• Noah Bergeron - Bergeron has served on city council eight years. The incumbent said he hopes to carry on with the projects currently facing councilmembers and initiate new ones. Bergeron is a financial planner.

• Fred Junior Block - Block has been a councilmember for approximately 18 years. Self-employed, Block buys and sells used farm machinery. He said his experiences with city council and his own business will prove valuable to the city.

• Randolph Gear - Gear is completing his first term as a councilmember. In addition to teaching art, Gear is a sergeant in the army reserves. He said he hopes to continue representing his community.

• Ellis Pennington - After serving eight years on the Romulus Township Board of Directors, Pennington served on the first city council from 1970 to 1973. He returned to the council in 1985. Pennington is employed as a "computer spinner set up person" for a local company. The candidate said he will work to answer citizen complaints.

• Jimmie Raspberry - Raspberry became a councilmember in 1970 when Romulus became a city. Previously, he had served as a trustee for Romulus Township, taking on that position in 1961. Raspberry

Historical park is added to city plan

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A proposed historical park was added to the Romulus recreation plan Monday through a resolution approved by councilmembers.

The original recreation plan included a recreation facility proposed near Elmer Johnson Park, which would include a gymnasium and a swimming pool. A city-owned golf course was also part of the plan.

The historical park was added by city officials who are hopeful that Romulus will be awarded a Michigan Department of Natural Resources Quality of Life Recreation Bond Grant to complete the park.

An application for grant monies for the recreation complex was turned down because it did not meet the criteria of the grant, according to Dennis Oakes, director of community development.

The DNR grant may provide the city partial funding to assist in the development of the Romulus Historical Park, Oakes said.

Described in the amended plan is a 1.2-acre site for the historical park in downtown Romulus. The proposed park would feature the renovated schoolhouse, currently at the site, a railroad caboose, a band shell/gazebo and two picnic shelters.

Mall development is eyed for city

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A new strip mall may be in store for Wayne Road, in Romulus.

Under consideration is the property between Kegger's Food Store and Video Fox Super Store, between Wick and Ecorse roads.

The land between the two stores is owned by a corporation known as Koza Garmo Gappy, which is composed of the names of three major shareholders. In addition to being a shareholder of the property, Kegger's manager, Shamil Gappy, owns stock in the video and food stores.

"It just doesn't make sense to keep paying taxes on the land without using it," Gappy said.

For the past two weeks, Gappy has been polling customers and area residents about the type of stores they would like to see. The top three suggestions are an ice cream parlor, a laundromat and a major grocery store.

"I think it would be a good idea to put in a major grocery store," Gappy said.

Gappy believes Romulus residents would like a larger

City workers are honored

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

City employees were recognized for their contributions to the community during a ceremony Monday.

Awards were presented by Mayor Beverly McAnally, Police Chief Fred Dansby and Fire Chief William Greenslaft.

Several police officers were honored for their behavior during dangerous or unusual situations.

Richard Schwartz received a departmental citation for his efforts to evacuate and battle flames during a fire at Daly's Restaurant. Cora Semrau was recognized for her professionalism during a bomb threat at the 34th District Court building.

In addition, officers were for recognized and apprehending a suspect in a breaking-and-entering incident. Michael Grant, John Hlinak, Jerome Yoscovits and Michael Anderson received citations.

Additional departmental recognition went to Alan Hindman, Dwayne Decaires, Teresa Koski, Robert Brown, James Rafalski, Daniel Snyder, Joseph Richardson and John Smagner.

One certificate of appreciation was awarded to a Romulus resident, Duane Dunn, who reported a breaking and entering at a neighbor's home.

Recognized for longevity were volunteer firefighters Ellis DeBruhl, George Simko and Garland Sperry.

"We're really very pleased with our volunteer fire department," McAnally said. "I'd be willing to match our volunteer fire department against any fire department in the state."

Also recognized for longevity of service were Elvera Fischer, Frank Hood, Geraldine Chevalier, Melvin Allen, Lois Parker, James Poet, Carl Brooks and Earl Champagne.

The ceremony was concluded with special presentations to retired fire chiefs Joseph Crova and John Wilhide and retired deputy fire chief Wilbur Koester.

Progress and praise

Civil rights effort aided by Detroit convention, residents say

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Local members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People are praising the recent convention staged in Detroit.

The five-day event, which began July 8, featured several well-known guest speakers, including the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Vice President Dan Quayle, U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary Jack Kemp and U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan.

More importantly, the convention sent a clear message across the country, according to the Rev. Larry Hines, president of the western Wayne county branch of the NAACP. "The organization continues as a vital and viable civil rights organization against those who would not continue to support them...The NAACP continues to fight for the rights of minorities," Hines said.

The organization continues as a vital and viable civil rights organization against those who would not continue to support them. The NAACP continues to fight for the rights of minorities.

— The Rev. Larry Hines
Local NAACP chapter president

To illustrate that position, NAACP convention delegates approved the organization of a silent march on Washington D.C. for Aug. 26.

"The mobilization is to show we mean what we say as an organization," Hines said.

Issues discussed during the convention included the affect recent U.S. Supreme Court rulings have on affirmative action programs. Reacting to the rulings, convention delegates approved an emergency resolution asking Congress to act swiftly to restore the laws that were weakened and struck down by the High Court.

Additional areas of discussion were housing, drug abuse, economics and unemployment. The Fair Share program, which mandates that minorities receive a fair amount of contracts in the business world, was also a topic of discussion, Hines said.

In the area of economics, NAACP members plan to participate in a Dollar Days program Sept. 1 through Sept. 5. Members will use Susan B. Anthony silver dollars and $2 bills to show how their money is active within communities, Hines said.

Although he is pleased with the discussions of the convention, Hines said the issues were not new to the NAACP.

"They are just continuations of constant issues for this organization," he said.

A positive sign for the civil rights organization, Hines added, is the large number of young people who attended the convention.

"Youth is the future of any organization," he said.

Another NAACP member Ruth Anthony, was pleased to see the involvement of young people.

"I was impressed with the scholarships they gave to the young people. I thought that was a good idea," Anthony said.

Eye Care

Cheryl Huey, M.D.

Ophthalmologist - Eye-Physician and Surgeon

CATARACTS

Cataracts are one of the most common causes of loss of vision. They cause a gradual loss of vision, making it difficult to focus well, and often cause problems in bright light. They can occur at any age, but are more common the older we are. Many people think that a cataract is a film growing over the eye, but actually a cataract is a clouding of the natural, living human lens inside the eye. No one knows for sure what causes a cataract, but they are more common with aging, and with years of exposure to the sun. They can also be seen after an injury.

Fortunately, modern surgery enables us to safely remove a cataract, and replace it with an implant lens, to restore good vision in the great majority of cases. We no longer have to wait until a cataract is "ripe"; surgery can be done when vision is blurred for everyday activities such as reading or driving. Nowadays an overnight stay in the hospital is not required, and patients are back to their normal routine in a short time.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

County assists with signal

An agreement between Wayne County and Romulus was approved July 20 during a county commission meeting that ultimately will result in a new traffic signal on Hannan and the I-94 service drive.

The cost of the flashing signal will be shared. Total installation costs are expected to reach $8,500. Romulus will assume responsibility for 25 percent, or $2,125, of that amount.

Use for vacant school is sought

Romulus residents and community group members are still needed to provide district officials with suggested uses for the old South Junior High School building.

Until June, the building had been used to house the Beacon Day Treatment Program. Now, the aging facility is vacant.

School officials are concerned about maintenance problems plaguing the building including asbestos, a failing boiler and the need for roof repairs.

Those interested in exploring options for the building are asked to call Doreen McEvilly in the superintendent's office, 941-1600.

Volleyball set to begin

Volleyball enthusiasts will have a chance to show off their skills this August during the Romulus Recreation Department Beach Volleyball Tournament.

The two-day event will be staged at Elmer Johnson Park off Wick Road. Four-on-four co-ed games will take place Aug. 5. Men's and women's doubles will be played Aug. 6.

A $10 entry fee will be due July 28. For more information, call the recreation department at 942-6852.

Bowhunters to rally

A league for bowhunters age 18 and older is forming through the Romulus Recreation Department this summer.

Participants will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Wednesdays beginning Aug. 2 at Elmer Johnson Park.

A $20 fee is charged per participant and targets will be provided.

August outings set for seniors

Registration forms for August activities at the Romulus Senior Center will be available Aug. 1.

Trips to the Detroit Zoo, the Michigan State Fair and shopping are among the planned events.

Remaining July activities include a trip to the Wyandotte Good Old Days July 28. Participants will be provided with a free movie, popcorn, pop and door prizes along with transportation from the senior center.

In addition, July 28 is the deadline to enter the Senior Olympics which will be staged in Wyandotte Aug. 7 through Aug. 9.

Right to life meeting set

A meeting of the Romulus Right to Life organization is planned for 7:30 p.m., Aug. 10, at 13311 Cogswell, between Huron River Drive and Hannan.

A video, The Question of Nutrition-Hydration, will be shown.

For more information, call 942-9519 or 941-4602.

Education funds are approved

Members of the Romulus board of education Monday approved budgets for compensatory education programs for those for students two grades below in their studies.

Teddy bears are newest police tool

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Several teddy bears were among the guests of honor July 20 during a special Kiwanis Club meeting.

During the meeting, club members presented Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby with a check for $1,361.88 to initiate The Officer and the Bear Program.

With the money, the police department will purchase teddy bears to be used in cases involving children. The stuffed toys will be used to try to comfort children in cases such as car accidents or family disputes. The department used the Kiwanis Club donation to purchase 300 teddy bears, shirts and silk screening for the bears' "uniforms."

In addition, officers will present children with official adoption certificates for the bears, said Det. John Smagner, who attended the meeting. Potential bear parents must promise to take good care of their new wards, he said.

To kick off the program, 5-year-old Nicole Johnson was presented with the first Romulus police bear during the meeting. Johnson suffered from first-, second- and third-degree burns earlier this year when a power line fell on her. She is still receiving treatments for burns to the stomach.

Dansby, who attempted to launch a similar program in Westland, expressed his thanks to the Kiwanis Club.

"The reason we want to do it is to build up relations between the police department and the community, especially youth," he said. "We want children to know we do good. I don't know anyone who doesn't like a teddy bear."

Mayor Beverly McAnally also commended the Kiwanis Club, along with all residents and organizations who donate time and money to needy causes.

"It allows us to do things for young people," she said.

The teddy bear program is only in operation in one other Michigan community, Hastings.

A group of 30 motorists rallied in Romulus Sunday as part of a charity event. Participants competed for points as they made their way through obstacle courses set up throughout the state. ## Road rally comes to Romulus

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus was one stop for a 30-car entourage of road rally competitors this weekend.

Known as the Grand Tour for Children, the charity event sent participants throughout the state Friday through Sunday to maneuver their cars through obstacle courses for points and donations.

The competitors arrived in Romulus Sunday afternoon. The local course was set up in the parking lot of the Chevrolet-Pontiac-Canada Group firm on Ecorse Road.

Competing cars included a Rolls Royce, a Porsche and 15 Oldsmobiles. The competitors were in Romulus from 2:30 to 5 p.m. before moving on to their final stop in Southfield.

The Grand Tour for Children has been an annual fundraiser for the Michigan Association Children's Alliance for four years. This year, between $100,000 and $150,000 was to be collected through donations of corporate sponsors.

Uniroyal, WJR, and Sportscar of America were among the sponsors.

This is the first year the road rally has come to Romulus.

• William Wadsworth - Wadsworth is serving his fourth term on city council. He is also an officer for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. The candidate said he cares for the people of Romulus and that is why he will campaign for office.

• David Atkins - Atkins has resided in Romulus on and off since 1943. Currently, he is the publisher of The Romulus News. Atkins said he decided to run for office because he didn't like the way city councilmembers were doing their jobs.

• George Carpenter - Carpenter has been a Romulus resident for 57 years. He recently retired from his post as a county employee. Carpenter said he wants to make changes in the community.

Chemical transport criticized

Alarmed by the recent train derailment and subsequent chemical fire in Freeland, Romulus officials approved Monday a resolution opposing the use of trains to transport hazardous chemicals.

Approximately 3,000 people were evacuated from their homes in Freeland last weekend due to a chemical fire resulting from the train derailment.

Because the railroad company involved in the derailment - CSX Transportation - also carries flammable chemicals through Romulus on a regular basis, city officials fear a similar accident could occur locally.

"It's a time bomb, a real disaster just waiting to happen," said Mayor Beverly McAnally, who proposed the resolution for lawmakers and railroad officials. "This kind of material cannot be transported through communities."

City councilmembers were supportive of McAnally's proposal, adopting it in a unanimous vote.

"This poison comes through the midway of Romulus. We probably would have to evacuate everybody," Councilman Jimmie Raspberry said.

Raspberry suggested that city officials support the efforts of Freeland officials to request a state statute that would impose a 25 mph speed limit for the trains when traveling through populated areas.

Such a speed limit, McAnally said, would add to the existing problem of lengthy railroad crossing blockages in the city.

as a councilman from 1970 to 1973 when Romulus became a city. As a retired Ford employee, he wants to give his time to the community. • Elvera Fischer - Fischer has resided in Romulus 43 years and recently retired from the city water and sewer department. She said she is concerned about the residents and city employees in Romulus.

• Russel Lambert - Lambert has lived in Romulus 33 years. He recently resigned from the Romulus volunteer fire department to pursue a seat on council. He is employed as a carpenter. Lambert said he thinks Romulus is ready for some new faces in city government.

John Lewkowicz - Lewkowicz has been a Romulus resident since 1963. He has served several terms as the city treasurer, concluding his most recent term of office in 1987. He has also served on city council. Lewkowicz said he is seeking office this year because of his interest in the people of Romulus.

Linda Choate, who has served as city clerk since November, 1983, will run unopposed.

James Napiorkowski, who became treasurer in 1987, will also run unopposed.

selection of food stores. Currently, there are two grocery stores in Romulus.

He is reluctant, however, to make rapid decisions about the development. In addition, the approval of the other shareholders will be needed.

"I really don't know yet exactly what I'm going to do," Gappy said.

At this point, he hopes to receive more suggestions from the community. If response to his idea is strong, Gappy may begin the actual development process next year.

"We're not in a hurry," he said. "I'm just thinking about the future."

If Gappy and the other property owners choose to develop a strip mall, they will be required to obtain a site-plan approval from the Romulus planning commission, a routine procedure. The land, Gappy said, is already zoned for commercial use.

Man is charged in assault

An Inkster man has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder several weeks after the reported attack of his girlfriend.

Andre Brown, 22, was arraigned in 34th District Court, in Romulus, July 18. His bond was set at $15,000. Brown was to face a preliminary examination yesterday morning.

Brown was charged in connection with a July 5 incident on the 8500 block of Wahrman, at the home of Brown's 18-year-old girlfriend.

Brown's girlfriend, the mother of his 2-year-old child, called the police department from a neighbor's home at 5:15 p.m., according to police officials.

When the authorities arrived, the woman was bruised and had sustained an injury to the rib cage, police officials said. The woman identified Brown as the man who had beaten her and threatened her with a cutting instrument, police officials said.

Brown was arrested July 17.

Pet owners cautioned about summer diseases

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP News Editor

The increased pet population during summer months often means increased incidences of pet diseases, according to Michigan Humane Society officials.

Animals are susceptible to many diseases, but most diseases can be prevented and cured with the proper medical attention, according to Jackie Kunze, manager of the MHS Westland shelter.

Regular animal vaccinations could easily save the life of a family pet, Kunze said.

Parvo is a deadly disease which predominantly afflicts dogs, Kunze said. One case of parvo was reported in Wayne this summer. The afflicted dog died of the disease.

More common summertime pet disorders include heartworm, distemper, feline leukemia and upper respiratory disorders. All can be prevented with proper vaccinations, Kunze said.

Common summertime diseases of which pet owners should be aware include the following:

- Distemper is a virus carried through the air. Symptoms include diarrhea, a green discharge from the eyes and nose and a high temperature.

- Heartworm is carried by mosquitos and is common. All animals should be tested for heartworm, Kunze said. If they carry the disease, animals must be given medication daily to cure the problem. April through December are the most common months for heartworm.
- Feline leukemia is deadly, but it can be prevented with the proper medication. The disease is unique to cats and is spread by contact with a cat carrying the disease.
- Upper-respiratory problems are also common in cats during the summer months. The cat will display typical cold-like symptoms, Kunze said.

"Just because you have an indoor pet, that doesn't mean they are safe," Kunze said.

A cat sitting in front of an open window can still contract a summertime disease, she explained.

Humane society officials provide information on all pet disorders. Call 721-7300 for information from the Westland shelter.

Love for pets evident in local artist's work

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Tim Marsh's love of nature and animals carries forth in his art — works in colored pencil, pastels and ink drawings of the flora and fauna of Michigan.

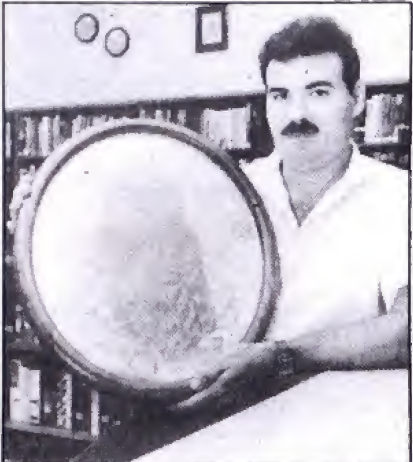

Marsh, who is employed at Dan's Pet Shop, in Canton Township, sometimes uses the animals from the pet store in his drawings, as well as scenes of nature that he views on his travels throughout the area.

The artist began "dabbling in art" while a student at Belleville High School. After winning a BHS third-place award for a painting of a big-horned ram, and, subsequently, having the picture submitted to a statewide competition, Marsh's interest in art was further developed.

"Competing in the state contest sparked my interest and motivated me to continue my work," Marsh said. "I prefer to be called a nature artist than a wildlife artist, because the term, 'wildlife' seems to make people think of animals. I prefer to depict all of nature — flowers, trees, plants, vines as well as animals in all of my pictures."

Marsh said he receives great satisfaction from opening the eyes of the public to the nature around them.

"Many people don't see the nature around them," Marsh said. "I feel it is really important to help people to take a second look at what is around them. People seem to be growing more aware of nature and the environment, and it gives me a lot of pleasure to help them to make that discovery."

Tim Marsh

Marsh attended Eastern Michigan University for two and one-half years, and plans to return to college in Pennsylvania in the fall to continue his art studies.

Marsh admires two artists — illustrator Norman Rockwell and Canadian watercolor artist Glen Loats.

"Rockwell showed little bits and pieces of life that people usually pass by and don't see," Marsh said. "That's what I'd like to do with wildlife — show people some of the things that they pass by and don't notice. I'd like to open people's eyes to nature, like Rockwell did to the common aspects of everyday lives of people."

Marsh said he does not want to emulate the Canadian artist's style, but to attain his level of artistic excellence.

Marsh was selected as the July Artist of the Month by the Friends of the Fred C. Fischer Library. His works are on display at the library, 167 Fourth St., Belleville, through the end of the month.

DIGEST

School board officers elected

Officers of the Wayne County Intermediate School District Board of Education were elected at an organizational meeting July 12.

Mary Blackmon, a Detroit resident and former member of the Detroit board of education, was elected president.

Armen Barsamian, of Garden City, will serve as vice president. He is a former representative of the Garden City schools board of education.

Wayne resident Kathleen Chorbajian was elected to serve as secretary for the board. She is also a trustee on the Wayne-Westland schools board of education.

Trenton resident Boyd W. Arthurs was elected to serve as treasurer. He is a member of the Trenton board of education.

Canton Township resident Charles D. Ackey will serve as trustee. He is a former member of the Livonia board of education and served as president of the WCISD board last year.

The new officers will serve through the 1989-90 school year.

The WCISD is the regional planning and funding liaison between the Michigan Department of Education and all school districts in Wayne County.

Findings rate Wayne County

A management letter by officials from Ernst & Whinney has Wayne County government officials cleaning up their departments.

The findings from the Detroit accounting firm - part of an annual process - reveal deficiencies in each county-run department, "starting from the executive branch to the lower levels," according to county officials.

Umpires sought for tournament

Umpires are needed for the Michigan Special Olympics Softball Tournament to be staged Aug. 4 and 5 at the Canton Softball Center.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Wayne Civitan Club.

Opening games will be played at 6 p.m. Friday and games begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Official umpires are needed to take part in these special games. A total of 76 games will be played.

To volunteer, call Ron Swan at 722-3771 or 491-4550.

Dedication staged at Metro Airport

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara dedicated Tuesday new facilities constructed at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, in Romulus, to accommodate international passengers who arrive in Detroit.

County officials offered a tour of both levels of the new facilities, including areas from which the public and media are excluded. Metro Airport is one of the first U.S. airports to utilize the new "1990s concept" for passenger screening by federal agencies, according to McNamara.

Airport noise topic of forum

A public hearing has been scheduled from 3 to 11 p.m. Aug. 9 to gather citizens' input and reaction to the Metro Airport master plan and Part 150 Noise Compatibility Plan.

The hearing stems from expansion plans at the airport, which must be approved by federal officials. Before such approval will be granted, government officials must review a development plan, which includes a master plan, noise compatibility study and environment impact statement.

The impact statement summarized both the master plan development program and noise compatibility plan, county officials said.

The public hearing will be staged at the Ramada Inn, 8270 Wickham Road, Romulus.

Canoes on the Rouge?

Michigan Youth Corps workers (above) began clearing away brush last week for the construction of a canoe livery along the banks of the Rouge River. The livery, when completed next year, will be used for canoes on a six-mile portion of the river, from the Nankin Mills recreation area, in Westland, to Warren Valley, in Dearborn Heights. The livery - a site for canoe rentals - will include concession booths. Youth Corps workers will also be responsible for clearing the banks of the river, clearing trees and building ticket booths. Wayne County officials kicked off the project July 19, when Youth Corps workers began clearing the area of debris. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Taxing tiff

Battle continues between school districts and cities

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

A new Michigan law approved last year is designed to help school districts collect taxes from new developments, but some local officials still predict a battle for tax money.

A new revision of the law will force some school districts to continue waiting for funds.

Under Public Act 120, which was signed recently by Gov. James Blanchard, cities will continue to be limited in the amount of money they can capture from tax revenue to pay off bond issues. This was part of a move that was expected to clear the way for normal tax collection of such funds by school districts, but will permit some cities to resume withholding tax revenue from their school districts.

Through provisions for tax increment financing authorities, local governments can create special districts for which they can issue bonds to fund road and infrastructure improvements. These improvements are made in an effort to attract development. When development occurs, the resulting tax revenue must be captured by the city for bond repayment, until repayment is complete.

That provision has been a source of some challenge from school districts, who want revenue from new developments

Rouge River plan is topic

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Several new plans including a volunteer program and an information system are on the agenda for the summer meeting of the Rouge River Watershed Council today.

The environmental organization meets quarterly in one of the 28 communities it represents. Today, the meeting was to be staged in Romulus City Hall.

Prior to the meeting, William Jakeway, executive director, outlined some of the items planned for the agenda.

First, delegates were to be encouraged to participate in a volunteer skills bank. Delegates would submit job descriptions based upon the environmental projects needed in their communities. Volunteers with suitable skills would then be assigned to them through the council.

"That's something brand new," Jakeway said.

In addition, a 1989-90 format of environmental seminars was to be suggested for council approval. A discussion about storm-water management is proposed for October. Wetlands would be the topic of a January seminar. In April, the seminar would involve environmental assessments.

Next, an electronic bulletin system was to be discussed. Through this ongoing program, community officials could call an established number for information on environmental issues.

without having to wait until TIFA bonds are paid off.

Under a 1988 law, cities were required to capture no more taxes from school districts than they withheld from counties to pay off bond issues. But under the new law, which was sponsored by state Sen. John Schwartz (R-Battle Creek) and signed last month by Gov. James Blanchard, counties who had existing agreements to receive more than school districts will be allowed to continue doing so.

When the old system resulted in a loss of revenue for school districts, the state reimbursed the schools. Under the new system, the state will not be required to make such appropriations. Therefore, the new law has more effect on "out-of-formula" districts than those that do not receive any aid from the state.

According to a Senate source, however, there is no set limit for all such programs, because each is negotiated individually.

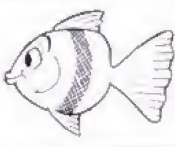

William Bedell, superintendent of the Romulus Community Schools, said he expects many tax battles regardless of the new law.

"The reason we didn't pay a lot of attention to it is that it mainly pertains to new TIFAs," Bedell said. "And I think that Romulus developments are already in place, so they're grandfathering it."

Bedell predicted there will be a "donnybrook" for tax money, even after the TIFAs are paid off.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally said she has not heard of the change, but has grown weary of TIFAs anyway.

"It's an academic question," McAnally said. "Because I don't intend to ever create another TIFA, because of all the harassment we have received from our school district, who are in-formula and have never suffered a nickel's loss, but have jumped on the bandwagon."

How come I never get a doggie bag from Chuck Muer's Wayne?

Because Chuck Muer's food is too doggone good, that's why. So good, those owners of mine savor every last morsel. Who wouldn't, with delightful choices like Barbecued Ribs, luscious Grilled Swordfish Steak, scrumptious Seafood Pasta Pagliara and delicious Cajun Mako Shark.

But they never bring me even a little to sink my teeth into. No wonder my bark is worse than my bite.

Western Wayne: Decade of growth plotted in forecast

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

One of the best characteristics of western Wayne County is the tremendous residential and commercial development enjoyed by residents living there during the past 10 years.

Even better news is the fact that even more growth and more development are expected during the next 10 years, according to local analysts.

Jim Thomas, who coordinates demographic information for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, believes that western Wayne County — especially the I-94 and I-275 corridors — is one of the most likely areas to continue steady outward growth in all of Wayne County.

"It's an outward sprawl in all directions," Thomas said last week.

Richard Roehl, a professor at the University of Michigan-

The growth of the past 10 years and the future will cause the western Wayne County population to age. Because of this, the importance of schools will decline and the needs of senior citizens increase . . .

— Richard Roehl
Demographics analyst

Dearborn urban research lab, agreed. The urban nature of the Detroit area continues to move outward and will more profoundly affect areas such as western Wayne and eastern Washtenaw counties in the future, he said.

Despite the short-term gain of such growth, Roehl said, long-term ramifications mean a more mature, less education-oriented western Wayne County.

The growth of the past 10 years and the future will cause the western Wayne County population to age. Because of this, Roehl said, the importance of schools will decline and the needs of senior citizens increase, including an increase in shopping facilities and industries that cater to an older population.

"One thing that's going to happen is that the (local) medical-care industry will continue to grow," Roehl said.

School millages will have more difficulty securing voter approval, Roehl predicts.

"That's the first line of resistance on taxes, because that's the one people get to vote directly on," Roehl said.

On the other hand, Roehl said, schools will have less need for expansion or construction, because enrollment will be smaller. The best form of planning for that time, he said, is to adequately maintain current educational facilities and resist the temptation to expand.

Because of this trend, the western Wayne County of the future will also be less in demand of starter homes, Roehl said, because more older people will want housing conducive to their needs.

"That changes the composition of the housing stock, in terms of what people want," Roehl said.

Overall, the Detroit area is growing much faster than the remainder of Michigan, Roehl said. People moving into the area from outstate are generally not seeking to live in the city of Detroit.

When combining that factor with the fact that people continue to leave Detroit for the suburbs, he said, the result is an increase in the population of suburbs and a strong possibility that areas such as northwest Oakland County and eastern Washtenaw County will increasingly become parts of the metro area, as western Wayne County is now.

Thus, the buzzwords for western Wayne County during the next 10 years will be growth, growth, growth. But, with the turn of the century, the term "senior citizen" will be an increasingly important part of local life, the analysts believe.

Burning issue

Local lawmaker hopes to end flag destruction

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

A lawmaker who served in Vietnam is taking steps to ensure that the flag he fought for is not burned in Michigan.

State Rep. Lynn Owen (D-Maybee) has introduced a resolution that calls for an amendment to the Michigan Constitution, prohibiting physical desecration of the American flag.

"We want it in place and ready to go if and when Congress makes its decision," Owen said.

The amendment, as currently proposed, would probably be struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court if it is challenged, Owen acknowledged. But by having the amendment on the books, he said, Michigan will be in the forefront if the federal Constitution is amended to prohibit flag burning.

While he expects to be accused of using the issue for political gain, Owen, whose district includes part of Sumpter Township, said the flag is important enough to defend.

"To a lot of people it is, and to me it definitely is," he said.

He also denied that the flag debate is taking time away from more substantive issues of the legislature.

"If something isn't done, can you imagine what would happen if someone actually came out in downtown Belleville and desecrated the flag?" Owen said. "That would be inciting a riot."

If something isn't done, can you imagine what would happen if someone actually came out into downtown Belleville and desecrated the flag? That would be inciting a riot.

Owen served four years in the Marine Corps, and earned three Purple Hearts while fighting in Vietnam.

After fighting overseas for the flag and what it stands for, he said he intends to continue doing so at home.

"It upsets me to a blind point to see people desecrating this symbol," Owen said.

After introducing the legislation July 18, Owen said he expects to find many co-sponsors when the legislature reconvenes.

Western Wayne County lawmakers expressed general support for the proposal.

State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township) said he would support Owen's proposal despite reservations about abusing the constitutional amendment process.

"The flag is a unique enough symbol that I think if we indicate that it's just the American flag we're covering, we can do it," Kosteva said.

But Dave Wygonick, legislative aide to state Sen. George Hart (D-Dearborn), said Hart would be hesitant to open up the constitutional amendment process for such an issue.

Although Hart supported a resolution calling for a federal amendment, Wygonick said he would prefer to wait for congressional action, and then enact a statute instead of an amendment.

"The issue will die out," Wygonick said. "People are able to burn the flag, and will take it for what it is. A grunt of political expression."

Local park to be a beach for a day

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Imagine an ageless fortress, complete with a moat, countless towers and a hovering drawbridge.

Only yards away from this imposing structure is the latest in modern architecture, sharp angles jutting outward.

Perhaps such a sharp contrast in styles seems odd, but these buildings do have something in common — they are made entirely from sand.

These are the types of creations likely to be found this weekend at the Nankin Mill beach volleyball courts as professional architects participate in "We're Building Castles in the Sand."

Sponsored by the Wayne County Parks, the event allows participants to create the most outrageous, creative sand buildings they can within three hours. Some architects opt for the traditional sand castles. Others prefer modern designs or invent their own types of buildings.

This year, four teams with up to eight members have registered to participate. There is room for two more teams.

Playing in the sand may be considered child's play, but last year the participating architects took the event quite seriously, according to Vic Chaisson, Wayne County recreation manager. Participants armed themselves with most of the tools of their trade including straight edges and blueprints.

In an attempt to create a dramatic effect, some of the competitors surrounded their work with tents until they were ready to unveil a finished product.

For the 1989 event, scheduled for June 30, a lengthy list of rules has been written. First of all, they state, all teams must have fun.

Castles and other buildings will be constructed on 20-by-15-foot plots of masonry sand. Approximately 300 tons of the material were trucked in when the volleyball courts were constructed. Masonry sand is somewhat more difficult to work with than "beach sand," according to Chaisson, making the event even more challenging.

In addition to their shovels and pails, the architects will be permitted to use masonry, garden and household tools along with water and water soluble paint. Adhesives and structural components will not be allowed.

From noon until 3 p.m., as the architects create their masterpieces, spectators will be encouraged to utilize the remaining court area to construct their own castles.

Ultimately, judges' decisions will be based on concept, originality and execution.

"The winning team will have the possession of the prestigious 'We're Building Castles in the Sand' traveling trophy until next year," the guidelines state.

Finally, the Nankin Mills beach volleyball courts will be graced with a surreal village of ancient castles and hi-tech structures even after the event — at least until someone steps on them.

Wayne County Air Show will roar into town this weekend

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Aviation enthusiasts and those intrigued by thrill-seekers will congregate July 29 and 30 at the Willow Run Airport for the 1989 Wayne County Air Show. And they'll be in for a big surprise, according to air show planners.

The air show will be bigger and better than ever, according to Jim Foster, air show coordinator. Events include performances by airplane stunt people, flybys of historic and modern-day planes, a 45-minute demonstration by the Blue Angels and exhibits of modern and historic aircraft.

The air show is not new to Wayne County, Foster said. Only the performers and events are new.

The Wayne County Air Show was a popular event during the 1960s and '70s. But it ended in 1972 and for 10 years, there was no air show.

"Then in 1981, we started trying to get people out here for a show and in 1982 we were successful at it and had a show," Foster said.

After that, the Wayne County Air Show was staged in 1983, 1985, 1987 and 1988. The most popular show was in 1987 when the aerobatic aircraft group, the Blue Angels, made an appearance, Foster said.

"Last year the show was great, but we had 106-degree temperatures those days and it held back the crowd a little. This year we are expecting more crowds," Foster said.

Probably the biggest thrill of the two-day event will be demonstrations by the Blue Angels, of the U.S. Navy.

"When we had the Blue Angels here in 1987, they were fantastic. They drew a lot of crowds and they should again this year," Foster said.

The rest of the lineup, Foster said, promises to be just as exciting. Featured performers and groups include the Holiday Inn Aerobatic Team and stunt flyer Craig Hosking, Pepsi Skydancer, stuntwoman Lori Ross, and Danny Clisham, who will serve as the air show announcer.

Performers won't be the only attraction. Antique and modern-day military aircraft will be on display. At the outdoor aircraft museum, visitors can examine the aircraft up close, Foster said.

Hang-gliding and model aircraft demonstrations are also scheduled.

Food and beverages will be available at the airport as well. More than 1,800 acres will be available for spectators to roam. Visitors are encouraged to bring blankets, chairs and plenty of sunscreen, Foster said.

This is the place you can see the best performers in the world. There will be some Air Force fliers and the Blue Angels, which are always a great sight to see," Foster said.

"This is the place you can see the best performers in the world. There will be some Air Force fliers and the Blue Angels, which are always a great sight to see," Foster said.

Daily events begin at 9 a.m. with the featured events beginning at approximately 1 p.m. For ticket information, call 482-8888.

The event will be staged at Willow Run Airport, near I-94 at Belleville Road.

County fair plans are progressing

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

The 1989 Wayne County Fair promises surprises and entertainment beyond that offered during any previous year, organizers said.

The 43rd annual Wayne County Fair is slated for Aug. 9 to 12, at the Wayne County Fairgrounds, at I-94 and Belleville Road, in Belleville.

On Aug. 11 and 12, the Monster Trucks — typically seen in events at the Pontiac Silverdome — will invade the county fairgrounds, according to Pat Bush, secretary of the Wayne County Fair Association.

"We'll have the Monster Truck 'Heartbeat' and 'Bigfoot' and on Saturday, they'll go against each other. They'll demonstrate their car-crushing abilities," Bush said.

Mid-West All-Pro Wrestling will be at the fairgrounds Aug. 9 when members of the tag team "Riot Squad" will tackle competitors. The "Riot Squad" will be making their Detroit debut, Bush said. Other matches are planned as well.

In addition, there will be outstanding county fair events such as the mini tractor pull, 4-by-4 street truck show and 4-by-4 truck pull, including a classic car show, Bush said.

Of course a fair wouldn't be a fair without such traditional events as pig races, Vegas nights, clown appearances, dog shows, 4-H livestock displays and festival rides.

The festival rides will be supplied by Elliott Amusement Co. Supplied will be approximately 18 rides, kiddie rides, games of skill and chance and the newest ride, Crazy Dance, which is similar to an oversized tilt-a-whirl.

Senior citizens day will be Aug. 9. On that day, all seniors will be admitted free until 5 p.m. On August 10, all those younger than 17 will be admitted free until 5 p.m.

A full day of rides will cost $8.

The fair will be open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Aug. 9 to 12. The gate fee is $3 and children younger than 12 are free. Parking is also free.

Cooks collect on culinary 'secrets'

It's that time of year again. Nope, not summertime when the temperature climbs into the unbearable range. And certainly not vacation season, because nobody wants to discuss cooking and getting away from it all in the same breath.

It is, however, the time Pillsbury starts promoting the annual Bake Off cooking and baking contest, believe it or not.

To tempt cooks to participate in the contest, Pillsbury begins the barrage of press releases every year about this time. Most of them tout the $40,000 cash prize won last year and the $32 million awarded in prizes since the contest began in 1949. Pillsbury is also careful to note that many of the winners are second- and third-time entrants and that a 17-year-old won the grand prize one year and that cooks as young as 10 have participated.

Obviously, the rules are detailed in these missives from the sponsor and include the provision that each recipe must utilize one of the products from the eligible list.

The rules also exclude any but original recipes. Those who are up to the challenge can obtain an entry form by phoning 1-800-288-0540.

As an example of past winners, Pillsbury included the recipe which was awarded a $2,000 prize last year at the Bake Off. I've never tried it, however, as it contains coconut, which to me is akin to tree bark. The judges, however, found it more than worthwhile.

Pina colada-cheese tart

15-ounce package Pillsbury All Ready Pie Crusts
1 teaspoon flour

For the filling:

8-ounce carton soft cream cheese with pineapple
3 tablespoons rum or 2 teaspoons rum extract
1 1/2 teaspoons pineapple extract
3 eggs
3 1/8-ounce package coconut cream pudding and pie filling mix (not instant)
8-ounce carton (1 cup) dairy sour cream
6-ounce can frozen pina colada mix, thawed

For the topping:

8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
3/4 cup powdered sugar
12-ounce carton frozen whipped topping, thawed
Coconut for garnish, yech

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Prepare pie crust according to directions for unfilled one-crust pie, using 10-inch tart pan with removable bottom or 9-inch pie pan. Refrigerate remaining crust for later use. Place prepared crust in pan and press in bottom and up sides of pan. Trim edges if necessary. Bake at 450 degrees for 9 to 11 minutes or until light golden brown. Remove from oven. Reduce temperature to 350 degrees. Cool crust completely.

In large bowl, combine soft cream cheese with pineapple, rum, pineapple extract and eggs at medium speed until well blended. Add pudding mix, sour cream and pina colada mix and blend well. Pour into cooled, baked crust.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes or until center is slightly firm. Cool slightly and then refrigerate until thoroughly chilled.

In large bowl, beat cream cheese with powdered sugar until smooth. Fold in whipped topping. Pipe or spread with spatula in decorative pattern over filling. Refrigerate 2 hours before serving. Just before serving, sprinkle with coconut. Store in refrigerator.

Brothers build area restaurant on family secrets

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Delicious Italian cuisine is one of the fondest childhood memories brothers Vito and Leonardo Liparoto can remember.

Today, the two are co-owners of Leonardo's Pizzeria and Restaurant, on Merriman Road, in Romulus. Their first experiences with cooking, however, occurred at ages 6 and 7. Vito and Leonardo — who is also known as Joe — were recruited to help operate the family bakery.

"In Italy, if you can walk, you can work," Vito explained.

But the Italian definition of bakery varies somewhat from the American rendition. Leonardo and Vito describe a bakery as an outdoor cafe, which also happens to be the site of fine baked goods.

In their hometown of Borggetto, in the province of Palermo, Italy, the Liparotos' bakery was the site of homemade ice cream, espresso and a variety of rich, delicious, Italian entrees. Most customers ate their meals on the patio.

Vito and Leonardo were 10 and 12 years old when their parents decided to move to the United States. Their father accepted a job in the construction business. When the two sons were old enough, Leonardo and Vito followed.

Approximately 12 years later — when the two surmised that they missed working with food — the brothers were able to use their skills as builders to help construct their own restaurant.

Relearning their cooking skills and adapting their recipes to American tastes proved to be a challenge for Leonardo and Vito.

"Here, there is less use of spices, like garlic. Heavy onion is not popular," Leonardo explained.

What makes the food at Leonard's special, Vito said, is the use of fresh ingredients, rather than quick substitutes. For example, when garlic is needed, Vito opts for crushed cloves, rather than powdered seasonings.

In addition, the Leonardo family tradition continues to impact every recipe. The pizza dough is actually a revised version of bread dough taken from Vito's and Leonardo's mother, who once baked fresh bread regularly.

"She used a handful of this and a handful of that," Leonard recalled.

Revising the recipe to make 300 to 400 pounds of dough per day was, no doubt, a difficult task.

Adding to that family tradition and atmosphere of the restaurant is Vito's and Leonardo's sister, Lena Zanger. She has the position of head chef.

Currently, pizza delivery is the largest source of business for Vito and Leonardo. Approximately 1,500 pounds of cheese are packed into their pizzas each week.

In addition, Leonardo's caters for the nearby airlines. Recently, the two brothers supplied 80 pizzas for one party.

To provide a taste of their home cooking, Vito and Leonardo shared some of the family recipes used frequently at the restaurant. A warning: Few customers are able to finish the

Cotolette alla Milanese (Breaded steak)

- 2 pounds sirloin tips
- 2 cups bread crumbs
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/2 teaspoon parsley
- 1/4 cup Romano cheese
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup vegetable oil

Mix together bread crumbs, spices and cheese. Beat eggs. Dip sirloin tips into eggs on both sides. Then dip into bread-crumbs mixture. In large frying pan over medium heat, melt vegetable oil. Fry tips until golden brown. Garnish with vegetables or salad. Serves six.

Fried eggplant

- 1 large eggplant
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 cup olive oil
- 1/2 cup grated Romano cheese
- Pepper to taste

Wash eggplant. Do not pare. Slice in 1/4-inch slices. Sprinkle salt on each slice and allow to stand for 1 hour in colander. Then squeeze dry with palms of hands. Heat vegetable oil in frying pan, and fry eggplant until brown on each side, over medium flame. Sprinkle with pepper and grated cheese. Serve hot or cold.

This recipe may be used as antipasto, side dish, entree or sandwich filling. Makes 4 servings.

Polpette (Meatballs)

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon chopped onions
- 1/4 cup grated Romano cheese
- 1 tablespoon parsley, chopped finely
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon pepper

Combine ingredients and mix thoroughly. With hands, shape the mixture into balls approximately the size of eggs. Place balls a few at a time in a frying pan with 1/4 cup of salad or olive oil. Brown meatballs over a medium flame. Remove and place in saucepan of boiling tomato sauce (see recipe above). Simmer meatballs in sauce uncovered until well done, approximately 2 hours. Serve with pasta, and pour tomato sauce over both.

Fresh tomato sauce

- 4 pounds fresh tomatoes
- 1/2 cup olive oil
- 3 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 small onion, chopped finely
- 2 sprigs fresh basil, chopped
- Salt
- Pepper

Cut tomatoes into small wedges and cook in stainless steel pan for 15 minutes over a medium flame. When tomatoes are soft, remove from heat and cool. Rub wedges through strainer. Brown garlic and onion in hot oil until golden brown. Add tomato puree and seasonings. Cook uncovered until thick, approximately 2 hours. Stir occasionally. This recipe yields enough sauce to cover 1 pound of any kind of pasta. Makes 6 servings.

BUSINESS NEWS DIGEST

Business reopens after 1987 fire

If Norm's Market looks different, that's because it is. The former party store burned down in a 1987 fire and has reopened with a new twist, according to owner Norman Gaggio.

"Now it's a small-to medium-sized market with fresh produce, and a full-line deli bar," said Gaggio, who reopened the business in mid-June.

The business, located at 25760 Ecorse Road, in Taylor, is open from 8:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Thursday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday and 8:30 a.m. to 1 a.m. Monday through Wednesday. Call 295-0044.

Job-training guide offered

Officials from the Washtenaw Community College Job Training School are sponsoring a "Getting Back to Work" exposition for laid-off, unemployed and underemployed workers at 2 p.m. Aug. 3. The event will be staged in the WCC Artists' Gallery dining room on the first floor of the student center.

Electronic tax filing encouraged

Income-tax preparers looking for the "competitive edge" are encouraged by officials of the Internal Revenue Service to utilize the electronic filing program.

The program involves the direct transmission of tax information to the IRS service center via telephone lines. The result is faster refunds, fewer errors and the option of having refunds directly deposited into individual bank accounts.

Preparer participation in the program requires approval by the IRS. The form to be used - available in August - is Form 8633, "Electronic Filer Application to File Individual Tax Returns Electronically."

Call 1-800-424-1040 for more information.

Service offered to furnace owners

Officials of Heil-Quaker Corp., one of the leading manufacturers of home-comfort products, said a nationwide search is beginning to find homeowners with certain models of gas furnaces. Those who are applicable will be offered a free product upgrade, including a lifetime warranty on key components.

The furnaces sought are high-efficiency gas furnaces built in the early 1980s and marketed with the names Whirlpool Tight-fist II, and Heil Energy Marshall II. Officials from the company recently improved the quality of these furnaces and want to make the improvements available to current owners at no cost. Approximately 100,000 are currently in homes. Any questions should be directed to 1-800-237-5871.

Wayne nets 2 chamber members

One new business has opened in Wayne while another existing business has joined the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, according to Donna McEachern, executive secretary of the chamber.

The new business is Car Crafters, of 35760 W. Michigan Ave. The business, owned by Erv Bear, specializes in car repairs. Call 595-8888.

In addition, the newest Wayne Chamber of Commerce member is Creative Celebrations. The shop specializes in gift baskets and balloon bouquets. Call 595-6817.

Energy center opens in area

By DANIEL CALABRESE

A new business that opened last week in Canton Township is designed to provide modern technology to small businesses.

Officials from G-T Energy Concepts, a Detroit-based company that develops and markets new natural-gas technologies, conducted the grand opening July 20 of their new distribution center at 41208 Capital, west of Haggerty Road, in Canton.

G-TEC is a subsidiary of MCN Corp., which is the parent company of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

MCN Chairman Steven Ewing, G-TEC President Shanti

Sharma and Canton Township Supervisor Thomas Yack cut the ribbon for the new center.

The new distribution center, Sharma said, will provide small businesses with access to a natural gas torch system, a metal-cutting and welding tool that will allow small businesses do what only larger businesses had previously been capable of.

Because the torch system, known as the GT-Pak, is the first of its kind to be portable, Sharma said, it can be transported to fit the needs of smaller businesses.

The new facility, which is known as the Canton Welding and Industrial Supply Distribution Center, has been open for business since the afternoon of the opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony last week.

G-TEC opened a similar facility earlier this month in Cincinnati.

Sharma said G-TEC officials intend to take advantage of the strategic location of the new center.

"Canton, from our point of view is a developing community," Sharma said. "And the logic that we had in mind is that the I-275 area is growing fast."

Because of an increasing number of small businesses sprouting along I-275, he said, the distribution center will provide easy access to many of those businesses.

G-TEC officials believe the GT-Pak will dramatically reduce costs for any cutting or braze-welding activities.

Members of the public who attended the opening last week witnessed a demonstration of the product.

The facility also features products that utilize low-pressure natural gas storage technology.

Area economists divided on future of U.S. economy

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

While many economists are predicting a slowdown in the U.S. economy - possibly even a recession - local financial planners do not agree about what the future might hold.

Darrell Ray, of Darrell Ray and Associates in Westland, said he believes the "recession" has already ended.

"I'm very upbeat about it," Ray said. "I think we've had a little bit of a correction."

A recent slowdown in economic growth, Ray said, is only now being felt.

"In reality, you have a recession four months before you know it," he said.

But Dennis Wallot, of Money Concepts in Westland, said Americans should expect an economic slowdown in the near future. Wallot predicted a minor recession for the first quarter of 1990, and is urging his clients to protect themselves by diversifying their investments.

While he acknowledged that economists' recession forecasts have been consistently wrong for the last five years, Wallot said dependable trends point to a slowdown this time.

"Every third time the Consumer Price Index goes up, there's a recession," Wallot said. "And it just happened."

Wallot is urging his clients to put their funds in real estate equities, hard assets, gold and silver, bonds and cash.

Wallot also said he has spoken recently with people in the oil industry who believe oil could make a momentous price leap to $65 per gallon by 1993.

Economic troubles could be on the horizon, Wallot said, largely because of America's role in the world market.

"We've lagged behind the rest of the world in terms of inflation," he said.

Inflation that is too low, he said, causes the dollar to be too strong against other currencies and creates trade problems.

"There's going to have to be a major change in the policy," Wallot said. "And I don't know if it's Bush or the fed, because they always bounce around, no matter what happens."

While Wallot was critical of the current administration, Ray complimented President George Bush for his handling of the economy.

"I think he's stayed the course well," Ray said. "He's not been extreme to any extent. He's kept a cool head."

While voicing optimism, however, Ray said he has mixed feelings about the U.S. position on trade. While he supported the recent free-trade agreement between the U.S. and Canada, he believes some trade barriers may be necessary with Japan, so U.S. consumers are encouraged to invest in American products.

"You pay a little more for it in America, but you're buying your own standard of living, too," he said.

Area home-sale boom resembles late-1970s

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP News Editor

Watchers of the local home market may be witnessing the second best year on record for existing home sales in the western Wayne and Oakland county areas.

Statistics gathered by the Metro Multiple Listing Service show that the home sales of 1989 parallel with the all-time-high home sales of 1978.

Interest rates dipping below the 10-percent mark and a more plentiful supply of homes can be credited for the jump in home sales, according to Eric J. Hunt, president of Metro MLS.

"June sales of 1,750 single-family homes and condominiums brought our 1989 unit sales total to 9,754," Hunt said.

"That's only 335 short of the record 10,089 reached at this juncture in 1978 and 693 above the second-best total achieved in 1979."

Local Realtors agree that sales have been better in western Wayne County than in past years. But the agents continue to complain about a shortage of listings in the communities they serve.

"There are not enough listings for all the buyers out there," said Dottie LeCuer, of Red Carpet Keim, in Westland.

The median price of area homes has also increased from last year. Currently, the median price of a house in the Metro MLS coverage area is set at $75,000.

"This 5.4-percent increase is

Nutrition: Key to good health is a body 'in balance'

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The In-Balance Center, in Romulus, is more than a health-food store.

Here, clients receive a total-body massage, a 30-minute workout or a health consultation. They can also learn to care for themselves, using natural food, exercise and herbs.

Owner Geraldine Torres identifies herself as an iridologist and a reflexologist. Iridology is the study of the iris, a part of the eye.

In this practice, Torres identifies and locates inflammation.

As a reflexologist, she works with the foot or the entire body. Like massage therapy, reflexology directs the flow of body energy, Torres said, improving nerve and blood supply to organs and glands.

"We don't diagnose, and we don't prescribe. We do teach people to have a quality life naturally," Torres said. "This is not medicine. In a sense, it's an alternative to medicine."

Torres gained her skills through correspondence courses and work with other professionals in her field. Iridology is slowly gaining ground in educational institutions, she said. Courses in the study are now offered in a few colleges in Michigan and Canada.

Torres became interested in the field approximately 10 years ago. She also has a keen appreciation for herbs and uses them to treat a variety of medical problems.

"I was (once) a very, very sick lady," she said.

Torres was bedridden. She had blood clots, swollen glands, severe allergies and arthritis. When Torres' aunt came to visit, she told her niece to try herbs.

"If you have blood clots, you must have dirty blood," the aunt said.

Torres began taking the herb her aunt recommended and noticed a change in three days.

"That bottle of herbs changed my life," she said.

Torres has since attempted to read everything and anything she could about herbs. Two years ago, she operated her business from a home in Romulus. In January, she moved the operation to a business district on Goddard, near Five Points, in Romulus. Torres is convinced that a strong need exists for her services. "People are living longer now, but are they living a quality life?" she asked. "Seventy percent of the population doesn't know there's another way of doing things." Torres believes that most members of society are misinformed about nutrition. The four basic food groups, for example, are not ideal, according to Torres. "We're now learning cow's milk is only good for baby cows," she said. Humans have difficulty digesting cow's milk, she said. This results in a clogged digestive system. "We should eat a good variety of grains, fruit and vegetables," Torres stressed. In addition to educating clients about healthy eating habits, Torres teaches them about the use of herbs, which she describes as an ancient practice. Torres stresses the importance of education and taking responsibility for one's health. "After six months of training and learning, they (clients) can be completely responsible for their quality of life," she said. "There are a lot of quacks out there," Torres continued. I'm not one of them. "I'm good at what I do, and I'm proud of what I do. I stay within the limits of the law," she said. In addition to the variety of herbs sold at the In-Balance Center, Torres offers water purifiers and numerous publications about healthy living. For those seeking exercise, she offers a Solo-firm machine. Thirty minutes on this passive exercise machine equals five miles of running, she said. More information about the business is available by calling 941-8778.

close to paralleling the rate of inflation and indicates that property values are continuing to protect the investment of the average homeowner," Hunt said. The sharpest average price-increase, Hunt said, occurred during the past two years and reflects newer homes on the market and added amenities not found in older homes. An average home in Westland in 1978 was listed at $43,022. In 1989, the same house will cost $59,857. In Canton Township, the average home price in 1978 was $69,642. Today, it is $101,150. Considering the value of the dollar in 1978 and average family incomes, Hunt said, the increased prices are not out of line. Financing plans, Hunt said, are also following a similar pattern as in 1979. The number of cash-home purchases and the use of FHA and VA loans, however, has increased dramatically compared to the late 1970s. Despite the good news, the housing boom of the late 1970s also signalled the start of a recession in the early 1980s. Some financial experts anticipate a similar economic slowdown during the early 1990s.

Where Memory Comes To Life

What My Family Should Know

An Executor/Survivor's Guide

Did You Know That There Are 49 Important Decisions That Must Be Made At A Very Critical Time?

Don't leave your loved ones confused, plan for your future. The main purpose of this booklet is to show you how to benefit by gathering and organizing important information.

By making these important decisions now you can minimize the emotional strain placed on your loved one.

MICHIGAN'S MOST BEAUTIFUL
CEMETERY OF CHRISTIAN AND INTERNATIONAL GARDENS

Most people do not know the many different burial options; then at death, the most difficult time in a person's life, they must make a hasty trip to a cemetery which they know nothing about and make the most important purchase of a lifetime.

Money is in short supply because they had depended upon their life insurance to take care of these expenses, never realizing the fact that life insurance does not pay off till many days after the burial has taken place.

The selection of the cemetery and the type of burial option you choose is much more important than the selection of a casket or the funeral director, because you and your family will be returning to the burial location hundreds of times over the years. WRONG DECISIONS ALWAYS HAPPEN WHEN HASTY DECISIONS ARE MADE.

DID YOU KNOW THERE ARE (3) BURIAL OPTIONS, with various cemetery costs?
MAUSOLEUM CRYPTS, the only guaranteed dry type of burial. One cost is involved.

CREMATION WITH MEMORIALIZATION, not necessarily less expensive. Two costs involved.

GROUND BURIAL, subject to the elements. Four costs involved.

Did you know that the average family spends more to be buried in the ground which they don't like, than what interment in a Mausoleum Crypt would cost?

WITHOUT OBLIGATION, we will mail you a brochure, then provide a VCR for viewing. YOU SAVE $100.00 ON ANY BURIAL PURCHASE WITH THIS ADVERTISEMENT.

Treat yourself to an evening out, dining in downtown Windsor. There's a kaleidoscope of wonderful restaurants: Italian, Oriental, French, German, English, Irish, et cetera. There's more than good food to like, because many feature jazz groups.

Bagpipe players, Victorian houses, European street signs, formal English gardens and pictures of the Queen. Some things tell you Windsor is foreign, some things tell you it's familiar.

The best way to get from Greentown to Windsor? Catch the "Windsor/Greentown Connection" from the stop at Beaubien & Monroe. For schedule information please call. For only $1.25 ea. way, you can leave the driving to Transit Windsor.

There are two more roller coasters where this one came from, namely, Boblo Island. Plus the Tilt-A-Whirl, log flume, pirate ship, merry-go-round and Ski Fever. Boblo's great new water show. All just a 10-minute boat ride from Amherstburg.

Windsor.

Where you're always welcome.

Welcome to Canada. Three simple words that promise a pleasant experience every time you go to Windsor, where people everywhere are genuinely friendly.

There are 175 friendly shopkeepers out at Devonshire Mall, on Howard Avenue, just 10 minutes from the bridge or tunnel. . . 175 stores from department to specialty, with things you can't find in the 'States, at prices you can't find there either. Fashions from Toronto and Montreal, imports from England and France, gifts and games, books and records, shoes and shirts, etc., all at Devonshire Mall.

And if you like a day in Windsor, you'll like two days twice as much, with a weekend escape at Holiday Inn. For less than you'd pay in Detroit, you can stay on the river in a luxurious twin-level Chalet Suite or in a cozy single, right in the heart of downtown Windsor. Whether you're staying overnight or just going to dinner, you'll enjoy Maxwell's Riverside Restaurant at the Holiday Inn. It's got a great kitchen and a terrific Maitre D'!

Whether you go for dining or entertainment, shopping or weekend escapes, you're always welcome in Windsor.

Let's go to Windsor

Win a Weekend!

Write or call to enter the drawing for an overnight stay and a $1500 National Canada mystery trip. Only one entry per family please. Offer ends 11/30/89.

‘Pay to play’ Athlete must pay $250 to compete in sports at Belleville

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dave Bing - where are you? Belleville High athletes need you. Bing, the former All-Star guard of the Detroit Pistons, with the help of the Detroit Auto Dealers' Association, has promised to raise some $660,000 for the debt-ridden Detroit Public Schools so that the high school athletes in Detroit will have the opportunity to play competitive sports and participate in music this fall.

The $150 million debt-ridden Detroit Board of Education has eliminated varsity sports and music as part of a cost-reduction effort.

Van Buren is looking at a $150,000 deficit, and, earlier this year, school officials proposed cutbacks, including the elimination of all athletics and extracurricular activities at Belleville High School.

The participation fee of $250 per athlete must be paid prior to the first team practice.

— Michael Colletta
Belleville athletic director

In a report to the school board and parents, Michael Colletta, Belleville High athletic director, outlined plans to raise funds to help defray the costs of athletics at the high school this fall. The school district needs about $150,000 for sports this fall.

"The school board has elected to allow a self-supporting and junior varsity athletic program based on an athletic fee system,"

Colletta stated. "The established fee for athletic participation is $250 per student per sport."

Colletta stressed that all fees must be paid in full prior to a student's participation in any school sponsored practice session. Also, individual teams will have minimum membership quotas that must be reached or the squads will have to be eliminated.

Colletta also pointed out that the fee system is not unprecedented. It had been used in the past to raise funds to defray costs of running the athletic programs. The program has been called by the media as a Pay to Play policy.

In the wake of two millage proposal defeats, school board members have mixed feelings about returning to the voters a third time for money.

Satellite hosts top women bowlers

Some of the top and leading money-winners on the professional women's bowling circuit will be in the area next month to compete in the 1989 Ladies Pro Bowling Tour Michigan Classic Tournament next week.

The tournament will be staged Aug. 6-10 at the Satellite Bowl, 25451 Michigan Ave. in Dearborn Heights.

"The tournament features the world's best professional women's bowlers," said Diane Voight, host to the LPBT. "The classic has been one of the highlights of the summer bowl tour."

Among the participating professionals are Cheryl Daniels, a three-time 1989 champion; Aleta Sill, two-time Bowler of the Year; Dede Davidson, 1985 Rookie of the Year; Carol Gianotti, the 1989 WIBC Queens Champion.

Also competing are Dana Miller, Jeannie Maiden, and Lorrie Nichols, past champions of the event. The ladies tour also features Wendy Macpherson, Carol Norman, Lisa Wagner and Robin Romeo - winners of the last four U.S. Open Tournaments.

Although the tournament will begin on Sunday, Aug. 6, the pro portion of the competition commences the following day (Aug. 7) with qualifying rounds and will continue through the Match Play which starts Tuesday evening and concludes with the nationally televised finals at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 10.

The Pro/Am phase of the tournament is open to men and women and includes a special squad for junior bowlers. The Pro/Am offers a $1,000 prize for first place and a total of $6,000 in prize money, a souvenir sweater, other gifts and the opportunity to bowl with three professionals.

Pro/Am entries and tickets to view the tournament are presently available at the bowling lanes.

Proceeds from the ticket sales also will be donated to Special Olympics.

For further information, contact Mark or Diane Voight, Satellite Bowl. Telephone 278-7400.

Going for the gold

After winning silver medals at the Michigan Police Olympics in Saginaw, the Downriver All-Star basketball team, which boasts former Inkster cage stars in its lineup, will travel this week to Vancouver, Canada to compete in the 1989 World Games. Members of the All-Stars, displaying their recently won silvers, include: Lamar Tidwell, (bottom row, from left), Tyrone Mitchell, Terry Crawford, and James Horne; second row are Ron Matthews, Robert Douglas, Sidney Howard, and Jerry Flowers. ## Belleville softball team to play for regional title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A Belleville-sponsored women's softball team will travel to Ann Arbor this weekend to compete for the Midwest Regional Women's Softball Tournament crown.

If the team, sponsored by Patricia Boyle's Chevy Dealership in Belleville, reaches the finals in Ann Arbor, the club will be eligible for national competition.

"I think we have as good a shot at it as anyone," said Coach Dave Brubaker whose team sports a 9-5 record after winning the consolation round of the qualifying tournament in Waterford Township. "Obviously, we are going to run up against some of the best women's softball teams in Michigan at Ann Arbor."

In Waterford, Brubaker's team managed to eke out a close 7-6 victory over Mt. Clemens in the preliminary round thanks to the pitching of Kris Biaradi. In the second game, they also were involved in a thriller and survived 3-2 over Compuware, one of the best teams in the state. Tied at two-all going into the final stages of the game, Belleville pulled out the victory when Mellisa Tisdale clubbed a solo homer to settle the issue. The victory went to pitcher Shannon White.

With third place, the final regional qualifying berth all sewed up, Belleville then proceeded to drop the next two games. They lost to Richmond (MI) in the semifinals 6-2 and Oxford eked out a 2-1 victory over the local club.

Brubaker boasts in his lineup local and area talents, including first baseman Jo Marie Skurtavich and Missy McKenna; second baseman Dana Bamashi; shortstop Missy Bosschawen; third baseman Jenny Kennedy and catchers Ann Rattenbury and Kim Sutron.

The outfielders include Tisdale, Kelley Coulson, Lisa Rochafellow, Amy Densten, Lisa Bieledda and Kelly Forbis.

Belleville winds down its 19-and-under conference schedule today against a highly-respected Whitney Investment team.

Boyle's zeroes in on crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Patricia Boyle's Chevy Dealership men's softball team is one victory away from wrapping up the Livonia Class A Modified Softball League championship.

If Coach Dave Brubaker's club can knock off John Rogin Buick this week, it will clinch the 1989 title. The league pacesetters are 9-1 on the year; Rogin's is sporting a 6-4 record going into the final game of the campaign.

If Boyle's wins, it will be the first major amateur men's softball championship for the Belleville-based softball team.

Belleville warmed up for their final game of the regular season by winning the Fostoria, (MI.) tournament title. With Curt Richards on the mound, Belleville turned back a strong Little Caesar's team 8-1 as Keith McManaway hammered a homer to lead the assault. Jeff Campbell also helped the winner's cause with three hits in four trips, while Brubaker, Vic Dawson and Don Dreher checked in with two hits apiece.

In the semifinal round of the eight-team tournament, Belleville was forced into a 12-inning affair with Caesar's before winning a cliffhanging 7-5 decision. Richard also got credit for the victory, while Rick Dreher clubbed a homer to tie the score in the seventh. Dan Pierce scored when Jim Campbell drilled a double to produce the tie-breaker.

Belleville also disposed of the Fostoria All-Stars 12-2 in a abbreviated game, cut short by the mercy rule. (Whenever a team is up by 10 or more runs, the ump has the option of ending the game).

Belleville also buried Express Oil out of Port Huron, 7-1. The game was closer than the final score would indicate - the winners were only ahead 2-1 in the seventh.

City tournament golf deadline approaches

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The City Championship Golf Tournament entries are beginning to pour in.

Veteran amateur golfers such as Ken Eck (Canton), Paul J. Massimilla (Canton), Dennis J. Guerriero (Westland), Davis P. Obrycki (Westland), George Lepage (Wayne), Robert D. Burnie (Wayne), Dennis R. Taylor (Garden City) did not wait for the deadline.

But where are the defending champs? They have yet to be heard from.

The deadline to enter the summer classic is 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 4. The tournament will be staged Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 12-13 at Fellows Creek Golf Course, 2936 Lotz Road, in Canton Township.

The tournament, in its 30th year, is open to all male amateur golfers of the cities of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City, Belleville and Van Buren and Canton Township.

There is a $39 entry fee for the 36-hole tournament. Competitors should fill out the entry blank accompanying this story, and mail it, along with their checks to: Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, MI. 48184. Make checks payable to: Bill Hawley, tournament manager.

The tournament was organized in the 1960 to help determine the city championship of the participating cities. The low five scorers from each of those cities are eligible to compete on the city teams in the state finals. The finals this year will be conducted under the auspices of the Michigan Parks and Recreation Department on Sept. 23 at Binder Park in Battle Creek.

The golfers will also be competing for trophies awarded to the top three finishers in each flight. Additional flights will be organized only if the number of entries from a community warrants it. There will also be a separate trophy presented to the medalist (low scorer) of the entire tournament.

Van Buren

Fall sports include: Football, basketball (girls), cross country (girls and boys), soccer (boys), swimming (girls), tennis (girls) and co-educational golf.

Colletta also laid down the rules on refunds. He noted that:

- There shall be no refunds of fees in the event a student athlete is injured, quits a team, is suspended due to disciplinary or academic refunds. However, refunds will be made to athletes who do not make the coaches final cut or whose sport is cancelled prior to the first game;
- There will be no refunds of monies obtained via fund-raising activities in the name of Van Buren Public Schools or through the scholarship program. These monies will be credited toward a student's athletic financial obligation and may be used as a sports fee until the student graduates. Upon graduation, all monies garnered through fundraising activities will revert to the Van Buren Public Schools.

If a student applies as a hardship case, he or she will be approved before the athlete is permitted to practice, Colletta added.

The $250 fee must be paid prior to the first team practice session, and if a student decides to join a team after the official starting date, the athlete must pay the fee in full prior to his or her first practice.

The 'pay-to-play' policy is not new to the Van Buren School District. School officials used the policy back in the early 1970s when voters turned down millage requests. The current financial crunch was precipitated, in part, because voters turned down a 4-mill tax increase in June.

The premise of the pay-and-play program is based on the principles that interscholastic athletics and extracurricular activities are not within the prescribed academic course of study and are therefore not necessary for educational progression or graduation, Colletta noted.

"The legitimate district purpose is to maintain athletic and extracurricular programs," Colletta stated. "The fee structure has a rational relationship to that purpose; without adequate funds to finance the total program, no activity will exist. Therefore the school board sanctions the sponsorship of students through the fee process."

Athletes who need further information about the program may contact the athletic department at 697-9133. They can also talk over their individual situations with their respective coaches, if desired. For football, athletes should contact Coach Dave McCarney; girls basketball - Michael Garland and Debbie Thomas; girls and boys cross country - Sam Vicchy; girls swimming - Greg Cooper; boys soccer - Chuck Hundley; girls tennis - Susan McCarney; and co-ed golf - Ted Grigon.

Golf

Wayne golfers will also be competing for the Patrolman Leonard Anderson Traveling Trophy, presented by the Wayne Police Department in memory of the first officer slain in the line of duty in the city.

Since 1960, 15 golfers have won the tournament title. In the early years, Al Whited of Belleville dominated the series, winning in 1961, 1962, 1967 and 1968. Two other area golfers - Wayne's Tom Piscopink and Kevin Ryan of Inkster have made their mark on the field.

Piscopink also has won medalist honors five times, while Ryan has won it three times, including the last week.

First call for fall sports schedules

Local high school athletic directors are urged to mail (or drop off) schedules for the 1989 fall season.

The Associated Newspapers' sports staff would also appreciate the names of coaches, especially newly-hired coaches, so that the ANP staff may contact them for the results of the games.

The ANP circulation area includes: Belleville High, Romulus, New Boston Huron, Inks-ter, Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem, Livonia Franklin, and Livonia Churchill.

Please mail schedules to: Associated Newspapers, Sports Desk, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne 48184.

Those who need further information, telephone 729-4000.

Keeping cool

As temperatures reached into the 90s this week, residents sought relief from the heat in the lakes and pools. Seven-year-old Jonathan Baylor, visiting relatives in Inkster, had the right idea as he headed for the local swimming pool. Baylor, and hundreds of others, made good use of the Municipal Pool as he cuts through the refreshing waters. Pool officials say that the attendance was up, but did not top last year's numbers when a month-long drought and 100 degree temperatures created unbearable conditions throughout Michigan and the nation. Forecasters predict rains for later this week, and a return to the cooler 70s for the weekend. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer
